ACUE congratulates Board of Advisors member Dr. Elmira Mangum on her appointment as Visiting Scholar at the Penn Center for Minority Serving Institutions (CMSI) and the University of Pennsylvania Graduate School of Education (Penn GSE).

“Dr. Elmira Mangum has been a tremendous leader and advocate for our mission to ensure all college students receive what they deserve: great instruction,” said ACUE Chief Academic Officer Penny MacCormack. “We commend the Penn Center for Minority Serving Institutions and the University of Pennsylvania Graduate School of Education for this outstanding appointment.”

During her half-year sabbatical, Dr. Mangum will research pathways to leadership at historically black colleges and universities (HBCUs) and other minority serving institutions, with a particular focus on advancements for women of color. Dr. Mangum, the 11th President of Florida A&M University, has served on ACUE’s Board of Advisors since 2014.

As a Board member, Dr. Mangum has played a critical role in guiding ACUE. At FAMU, Dr. Mangum helped implement a successful pilot of ACUE’s Course in Effective Teaching Practices, which features several FAMU faculty showcasing exemplary practice in their classrooms.
